

ABSTRACT

A high combustion efficiency device for liquid fuel comprises a hollow member made of electrically conductive material, liquid filling the hollow member and tourmaline particles dispersed in the liquid, wherein the high combustion efficiency device is formed to be attachable to at least one of a fuel tank for liquid fuel and a fuel passage extending from the fuel tank to a combustion device of the liquid fuel.

10